Senior Location Analysts

Holborn, London - Salary £competitive

As the market for prime retail sites grows ever more competitive, being able to put your finger on the right store location has become an increasingly sought-after talent. That's why we're looking for Senior Location Analysts with the vision and expertise to see beyond the obvious possibilities and spot potential retail gold, sometimes in the most unlikely places.

With a keen commercial eye and an uncanny ability to put yourself in our customers' shoes and find the best solution to meet their needs, you'll ensure we're making the most of our current stores as well as putting us in the right place to open new ones. But it's not just about gut instinct. You'll have a big input when it comes to purchasing sites, which means backing up your intuition with robust data analysis and GIS know how. Using your retail environment experience and degree in Geography, Economics or Town Planning, you'll make sure we deliver on our promise to give our customers the best possible shopping experience.
